His (A Dark Erotic Romance Novel)

Synopsis

I never meant to be here: tied up in bed next to a serial killer. When I followed him home, I was just playing Nancy Drew. Trying to find out his secret. His kiss was intoxicating, and I thought he was harmless. I was wrong. Nancy Drew never ended up in a basement, handcuffed to a radiator, teased to the edge of insanity, begging to be let go. Soon, I stopped begging to be let go. Soon, I started begging to be HIS. Author's Note: This is a dark romance novel with mature themes that might make some readers uncomfortable.

I love Aubrey's stuff under her alter ego and dark romance, so this one was an automatic one-click for me. Pleased to say I was NOT disappointed, and you won't be either. His is a truly dark mashup of romance, steam, and thriller suspense that grabs you on page one and doesn't let go until the wild end. When shy Kat meets a hot guy, the urge to play detective gets her far more than she bargained for. She's always wanted a mystery man who can really make her feel, and Gav is that guy in spades. He lives in a very dark, different, sometimes frightening world, bound by a code most ordinary girls would never understand. Leave it to Kat to try. Soon, she's swept up in the suspense, and we're left to find out if she'll be the light to Gav's darkness. The characters here are well fleshed out and the writing is awesome. Emotions, sensuality, and dark reckonings melt off the Kindle pages. Can't wait to see if Ms. Dark gives us a followup to this five star dark romance read!

I've had this book sitting on my Kindle shelf for a while now. Finally, I decided to give it a go. I'd heard a lot of great things about this dark romance, so I figured I couldn't go wrong with this one. All in all, I liked this story, but it wasn't the type of "dark" read that I was expecting. The first few chapters seemed cold and clinical to me. As a result, it took me longer than usual to connect with either of the two main characters. Kat seemed a bit frigid to me, although that quickly changed. Gav, was obviously a madman with a taste for torture. Neither held much appeal for me in the beginning. As the story progressed, Kat and Gav started to grow on me. He became more human, as he struggled with his inner demons, revealing the softer side of this tortured man. Kat finds herself fighting her own internal battles, as she is inexplicably drawn to the serial killer holding her captive. If he weren't a serial killer and she wasn't his captive, it could easily pass as a sweet, young adult romance. Most of the book was pretty tame, as far as dark stories are concerned. Aside from one gruesome scene where Gav is torturing his victim early in the story, there is only one sex scene near the end with a little kink that might push some readers' limits. I liked the book, but it wasn't the dark read that I thought I'd signed up for. It was definitely different. By the end, I felt like Gav should have been given a superhero cape! I kind of liked this serial killer!

First and foremost this author has a seriously good writing voice/style. Her descriptive writing skills are second to none, IMO. She didn't add unnecessary details, when not required (something that bores me to tears) but painted a vivid picture in all the right places, pulling me into a gut wrenching story. I don't want to give away spoilers so won't go into the plot too much. The only reason I didn't give it five stars was I felt the ending was a tad predictable and I found myself doing an eye roll around the 85% mark. I would call this a dark thriller, with a touch of erotic dark. Superbly written and edited. I will definitely be seeking out more work by this mysterious author. Mysterious how... I find it hard to believe this is her first foray into writing/publishing!

3.5-4 stars This was a pretty good story. I'm not usually in to the captive/forced seduction type stories but got pulled in to this one for a buddy read. To be honest, there was some violence and such but it seems rather light on the dark read scale. This is the first book I've read by this author and I found this interesting enough that I'd be willing to try more of her work in the future. Kat is a college student. Her loans/financial aid for school have had issues so she's working at the University library to make money for tuition. She came from a abusive home and has cut off contact with her parents. Her BFF, Jules, is constantly on her about getting a life and a man. Gav is a killer. He went to medical school but didn't become a doctor because he had problems with the "do no harm" part of the job. Gav came from an abusive homes with some added trauma that has left him with "shadows". These shadows only let up when Gav kills. Gav's chosen victims are men that abuse and use their wealth and/or power to get out of paying for their crimes. Gav is trailing his next victim, who happens to be a University law professor that beats his wife and son regularly. His target goes in to the University library to check out a book so Gav follows him there as well (scoping him out). Kat is working in the library with Jules, who is in the process of trying to convince Kat to spice up her life and find a man. Kat really isn't interested and is much more focused on saving money for tuition. Jules makes a bet with Kat where she has to kiss the next attractive guy she meets. They go to the elevator and find Gav inside. Jules takes the stairs, leaving Kat and Gav alone. Kat tries to work up the courage to kiss Gav and he's starting to worry, thinking her looking at him so intently is for a much different reason. She does kiss him and is surprised when he kisses her back. When they break apart, Kat goes for broke and asks him for a date but Gav says he doesn't date and that's it. They don't see each other again until a few days later and something happens that causes Kat to follow Gav to his house. She sees something there she shouldn't and the rest is history... To be honest, you do have to suspend disbelief for some points of this story but I didn't find it overly bad. Kat is a boring girl that doesn't date much but that hides the real her. The dirty girl that really wants rough and nasty sex and doesn't date because the men all bore her. When Gav takes her prisoner, she hates him at first but the attraction is still there and she tries very hard to deny it because she doesn't want to admit the darkness within herself that craves for what he can give her. Gav only kills bad men and doesn't want to kill an innocent. He's attracted to Kat and he has to keep her prisoner but he also wants to get her to stay of her own accord. Gav sets out to seduce Kat but gets seduced a bit in return. Gav finds that Kat chases away the shadow at times but there's a big struggle between them when it comes to his killing. I found the way things played out to be interesting and they worked but I do wish it had taken place over a longer times frame for it to be more believable. It was fortuitous that she just happened to be the perfect woman for him, someone that needed a little darkness herself. Things do work out so that Gav and Kat end things with a start on a HEA together. This was an enjoyable story. Kat was an interesting character... I had a hard time connecting with her enough to like her, yet I did get in to reading about how things progressed for her. Gav...well he was a bad guy but had bad things that warped him and drove him to these acts. Not that it makes it right but I liked his choice of victims...very fitting. Even though Gav's technically a bad guy I still kind of liked him and was happy he found Kat. I just got more of a tortured and slightly crazy vibe from him. Overall this was pretty good...an interesting take on this type of story (not that I've read many). I'd recommend this book if you're looking for something light in the dark romance genre. :D
